Alderman A. E. Bruce of the sixth ward is chuckling over the manner in which he dodged misfortune one day recently. While out motoring, he stopped by the roadside for a few moments. Some time afterward he discovered the loss of a pocketbook containing $105 in bills and a check that would equip most anybody's touring car with a set of new tires. Returning over the same route, the alderman conducted a search at the point where he had stopped earlier in the day, and was rewarded by finding the bundle of money intact.

Robert J. Charles of Tampa, Fla., a former resident of Barre and at one time a prominent figure in the boy scout movement here, is visiting friends in the city this week. Mr. Charles is at the head of Y. M. C. A. work in Tampa and retains his interest in the boy scouts of the Peninsula state to the extent of holding the office of scout commissioner for southern Florida. Last summer when hostilities began in Europe, he was visiting in England and Scotland, but returned at once to America. Tampa has a $125,000 Y. M. C. A. building and the work is carried on along the lines followed in the larger cities. Mr. Charles will leave the city Saturday on his return, and will inspect Y. M. C. A. institutions in Massachusetts and Rhode Island en route.

Officials of the Montpelier & Wells River railroad met with the aldermanic street committee and the mayor at the Ayers street crossing late yesterday afternoon to look over the crossing grade which the Barre & Chelsea railroad engineers lifted recently. The city officials made the point that the crossing had been so elevated as to lift it considerably above the level of the highway and private property. G. H. Watson of Woodville, N. H., the Montpelier & Wells River railroad's traveling engineer, and C. D. Doloff of Montpelier, the track superintendent, were on hand to give expert testimony in the matter. In the end it was decided that private and municipal interests will be best served if the grade is lowered a few inches.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Notice. The Little Dry Goods Store will be closed from Wednesday at 5 p. m. till Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Ressa M. Clark and Miss Elizabeth Fish of Burlington left yesterday for their home after visiting for the past several days at the Benedict farm on the Plainfield road.

Stephen Guptel of Northfield and Casper Spoor of Brooklyn, N. Y., began work this morning as clerks in the Smith & Cummings department store on North Main street. Leon Ducharme completed his duties there yesterday and is now employed in the H. J. Smith meat market.

By automobiles and by trains nearly 300 people left the city this morning with the intention of attending Northfield fair. A large number of young people are planning to leave late this afternoon and this evening for Northfield to attend the dance. Carroll's full orchestra is to furnish music.

Mrs. N. Normandeau of Merchant street, who has been spending the summer with Mr. Normandeau, who has been employed in putting in two crossings and building a short stretch of road near St. Johnsbury, returned to her home in this city last night. After traveling over New England in search of a farm in a desirable locality, W. G. Rittner of Baltimore, Md., happened to stop at an auction sale in North Chalks yesterday. Three hundred people were looking over a piece of farming realty and implements when Mr. Rittner, having gone over the property, put in his bid. Dan A. Perry of this city was on the auction stand and the property was knocked down to the man from Baltimore. Not alone by the property was Mr. Rittner tempted to make his offer, but by the locality and he is satisfied that he is to locate in one of the most attractive sections of New England. The farm consists of 90 acres and was sold for Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Colley. Mr. Rittner is to take possession at once. Miscellaneous brought good prices, ordinary cows selling for $43.50, 20-pound shots at $10.50 each, hay at $12 in the barn, and farming tools at excellent prices.

Changes in the running schedule of local and through cars over the intercity line of the Barre & Montpelier Traction & Power company, announced yesterday, became operative to-day. Officials of the road, when interviewed to-day, did not care to say whether the new schedule seemed to be working out satisfactory, as it was stated that the revised schedule must be tried for a few days before any comment can be made. The withdrawal of one main line car and the consequent laying-off of four men and twenty-minute service on the South Main and Washington street lines are the principal changes. The workingmen's special car is to be retained. It is understood that the running time between the two cities is cut down to some extent by the revision of the schedule, although cars are to continue to make the interurban trip half-hourly. Failing in its attempt to secure permission for the withdrawal of a main line car that would reduce measurably the intercity service, the company hit upon the present arrangement as a substitute solution of its difficulties.
